Violation # 247886829, 247886521

Dear Toll Roads:

I hereby reject the above referenced citations. Please respond within 10 days of receipt of this letter of rejection or you will forever create permanent estoppel by acquiescence to all points not refuted, forever barring this matter from being raised again.

As you know, according to Article 9 of the Bill of Rights, a license is "privilege, or permission to do what is otherwise unlawful". Here, the right to travel cannot be regulated or taxed. As such, I accept your notice conditionally. I accept that you are trying to communicate something apparently of great importance. But I hereby discharge your notice by seeking clarification as to exactly what you are trying to tell me. I assume you are claiming I owe you money because the words "amount due" appear on the actual notice.

Transactions of security interests require the consent of both parties, as do adjudication services thereto, and I do hereby deny said consent to engage in any transactions of security interests.

The conditions by which I accept this notice of an alleged debt are simple. I hereby request a signed original bill (which was not duly presented), and a copy of the lawful 2-party contract that makes me liable to pay it. It is clear that this is not a criminal matter as there are no allegations of a breach of the peace. I will presume that if the information requested herein is not provided, that it does not exist and that I am not liable for the charges.

I have exercised due diligence in locating the proper mailing address to answer this notice and, as such, do not understand nor consent to stand under the cause and nature of the charges with respect to the above citation. I expect the facts herein discussed to cause the withdrawal of these charges related to the referenced violations.

As you know, personal liberty largely consists of the right of locomotion -- to go where and when one pleases -- only so far restrained as the rights of others may make it necessary for the welfare of all other citizens. The right of a citizen to travel upon the public highways and to transport his property thereon, by horsedrawn carriage, wagon, or automobile, is not a mere privilege which may be permitted or prohibited at will, but the common right which he has under his right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. Under this Constitutional guarantee one may, therefore, under normal conditions, travel at his inclination along the public highways or in public places, and while conducting himself in an orderly and decent manner, neither interfering with nor disturbing another's Rights, he will be protected, not only in his person, but in his safe conduct." II Am. Jur. (1st) Constitutional Law, Sect.329, p.1135

"Where rights secured by the Constitution are involved, there can be no rule making or legislation which would abrogate them." Miranda vs. Arizona, 384 US 436, 491. "The claim and exercise of a constitutional right cannot be converted into a crime." Miller vs. U.S., 230 F. 486, 489. "There can be no sanction or penalty imposed upon one because of this exercise of constitutional rights." Snerer vs. Cullen, 481 F. 946.

Streets and highways are established and maintained for the purpose of travel and transportation by the public. Such travel may be for business or pleasure. I have a fundamental right to travel at will anywhere I choose so long as I am not violating anyone's rights or causing damage or injury to personal property or others. Therefore, I am not liable as there has been no crime committed nor is there an injured party.

I hereby declare attest and swear that all information in this document is true and correct to the best of my knowledge and that I have personal knowledge of the facts contained herein and do accept personal responsibility for all statements made and facts presented.

Most Sincerely,

Elizabeth Molina
