Dear Payroll Representative

2nd Notice, Notice of Dishonor of Notice in Termination of W-4 Withholding Agreement

Any party wishing to contest or dispute the claims made herein must respond under oath, bond and commercial liability within 15 days of this notice. ANY invalid responses that do not meet these criteria will be assumed to be an attempt to intimidate me in the free exercise and enjoyment of lawful rights in violation of 18 U.S.C. 242, which is a felony containing up to a 5 year sentence, and ignorance is no excuse.

It is important to understand that the payroll representative responsible for failing to terminate withholding i the party which will be held responsible for the amounts that have been unlawfully withheld. The company will face no penalty of any kind, nor will they be named as a party to any suit to recover these funds. The Payroll representative will bear the penalty alone. Because the employer, the company, and owner, cannot and do not have any policies that permit ANY other employee from taking any action which is unlawful, the payroll representative who is supposedly a tax "professional, licensed, insured, and or bonded, it is the payroll representative professional who will be held accountable if administrative remedy is not found. Also it is important to understand that the I.R.S. will not appear in court to defend any advice they may have given on this matter. So in the end, it will be a private suit, ME v YOU, I will have evidence in the form of these notices which now are notarized since your dishonoring of the first notice, which will lead to summary default judgment in MY favor and YOU will not have a single leg of defense to stand upon. You cannot even claim ignorance as the law has been made known to you in this matter, and in any case ignorance of the law is no excuse to break it.

Also it is wise to understand that the supreme court has already ruled in these matters in such cases as United States v. Malinowski 347 F. Supp 352 in 1992. "The company is not authorized to alter the form (W-4 or its equivalent), or to dishonor the workers claim. The certificate goes into effect automatically. AND U.S. District Court Judge Huyett. Also Holmstrom v. PPG Industries, 512 F. Supp 552, 554 DC WD Pa. 1981..."the withholding. party is not responsible for misstatements made on form (W-4 or equivalent) by an owner of income and hence would not be liable for tax which should have been withheld. Defendants manifest courtesy as to whether or not the plaintiff would pay tax, but this is none of their concern.

Understand that the statements in 26 CFR 31.3402-(n)(1) are what constitute a "withholding exemption certificate". NOT Form W-4 filled out exempt. And that THIS NOTICE contains those statements under oath 1." I incurred no liability for income tax imposed under subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code for the preceding taxable year; and 2. I anticipates that I will incur no liability for income tax imposed under subtitle A for the current taxable year.

I make these statements under oath and in good faith, and THIS is what constitutes a "WITHHOLDING EXEMPTION CERTIFICATE" A W-4 filled out exempt is STILL a "WITHHOLDING ALLOWANCE CERTIFICATE and it allows ZERO which is prima facie frivolous. So unless the payroll representative intends to give me legal advice I suggest that you carry out the actions stated in this notice otherwise you will face severe civil and criminal penalties ALLALONE, and the company will not even be named a party to the suit, because they are NOT responsible for the wrongful actions, YOU are. Understand that a Form W-4 when filled out exempt is obvious evidence of a frivolous filing as it is still a withholding agreement that allows withholding, but then claims exemption. One who is exempt files NO W-4 because they are NOT agreeing to withholding.

So as of the date given when the first notice was given to terminate withholding, as of THAT DATE all withholding AFTER is not just improper, it is wholly unlawful and constitutes criminal conversion of property. If I am unable to find remedy in the form of lawful compliance, a claim against your bond or insurance for these unlawfully withheld amounts, by the time this becomes a civil matter I will have sufficient evidence to secure default judgment, and will request that the matter be referred to the Department Of Justice for criminal prosecution. These notices ARE my evidence. If this notice is ignored you will have 1 more opportunity to rectify the situation by honoring these notices, when you receive the third and final notice of protest for non acceptance.

I hereby state, swear, attest, and otherwise certify that I have personal knowledge of the facts, law, and statements made herein and that all statements made are true and correct to the best of my knowledge, and are being delivered in good faith in accordance with my good faith beliefs and understanding of these facts, and NOT intended to cause undue harassment.

Sincerely,
